Skeleton of Small Dinosaur.

There are now being assembled in the United States National museum the bones of a very small three-horned dinosaur, which is being made the type of a new species. This diminutive dinosaur, when completely assembled, will measure about six feet in length and stand only about three feet high. Its head is 22 inches long. When its bones are compared with those of the larger members of this extraordinary family of reptiles, it will be seen that this specimen is less than one-fourth of their size. In the National museum are several skulls of one of the large horned dinosaurs, Triceratops, which measure from six to eight feet, and in one case nine feet.

ARRANGE DETAILS FOR THE BIG CELEBRATION

FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE
HELD MEETING LAST EVENING.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

Nearly Two Thousand Now Subscribed
But $2,500 Is Needed to Carry Out Program Suggested.

There is going to be something doing every minute in Janesville July Fourth if the program suggested by the arrangement committee at the meeting of the general Fourth of July committee last evening at the Elks' Club is carried out.

It was a most enthusiastic gathering. Every member of the committee listened to the report of Chairman Joseph Connors of the finance committee, which announced that the sum of one hundred odd dollars had already been pledged and that the committee were going to try and raise this total figure to twenty-five hundred with enthusiasm, and then the plans for the Fourth were discussed.

E. P. Lane was elected president and T. H. Murphy recording secretary. Joseph Connors treasurer and Edward Amernoff chairman of the arrangement committee. At a meeting to be held on Wednesday evening next at the library room of the Gazette, appointments of chairman of the circus parade and other necessary committees will be made.

The plan for the day's program starting early in the morning of the 4th include band concerts, free vaudeville acts on the square, a parade, a football game, and a parade, speaking in the Court House Park, former Governor of Denmark of Illinois being suggested a possible speaker, the reading of the Declaration of Independence, and more hand music. There was to come the novel feature of the day. Two genuine old fashioned foot races.

It was planned to put up a substantial purse for these contests and have one course of races, starting at the Myers House corner and around what is known as the "Big Horn" to Monterey, finishing down Milwaukee street at the Myers House. The second race will be over a longer course. The prizes will be substantial enough to entice entries of the speedy runners of the city and adjacent country.

After dinner would come more free vaudeville and band concerts and at three sharp the great Non-Such Bros. parade would start. While no chairmen has yet been named for this important feature of the day's happenings, the local crowd already is looking forward to the parade. The parade will be a detachment of his victorious constitutionalists to Janesville if they can be spared from the attack on Mexico City, and it is expected that a force of Mexican regulars and if the two bodies of soldiers should come together on the Milwaukee street bridge there would certainly be a battle royal that would add to the interest of the day's program.

Members of the Roosevelt party, just returned from discovering the unknown river in Brazil, will be present, paddling down the Rock and taking part in the day's festivities. Indians from the Koshkonong reservation at the Dope Club will be present with all their war trappings, including red paint, cow boys and cow girls from Prairie and Johnston will be on hand, and it is planned to have a set of lancers danced on horseback if a suitable place can be arranged.

Open cages of wild animals, mammals from Monterey, will men from Black Hawk, barrel race, chariot drivers, flying acrobats from the V. M. C. A. all will be in evidence. It is going to be one of the old fashioned parades, and the Non-Such party committee that he has sent special agents to Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and South America for new "stunts" not hitherto seen in public.

In the evening there will be an open air parade more band concerts, street illuminations, making it a day of days. The streets will be gayly decorated, the merchants taking care of their store fronts, while huge streamers of bunting and colored lights will festoon the streets themselves.

ACTING BUSINESS MANAGER FOR HAREFOOT PRODUCTION

Glen E. McCarthy of This City Served in Important Capacity.—Evansville Youth in Cast.

Glen E. McCarthy of Janesville, a senior in the course in commerce of the University of Wisconsin, is secretary of the Harefoot Dramatic Club. He is also acting as business manager on the various trips that the club is taking this year.

Ernest Van Watten of Evansville, a freshman in the college of engineering of the University of Wisconsin, took part in the Harefoot Dramatic Club play "Gypsy Suzanne" which was presented at Rockford and Racine recently. The play was presented at Rockford on Wednesday night and at Racine on Thursday night of last week.

Completely surprised by his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, W. H. Howard, 622 Milwaukee Avenue, celebrated his 80th birthday last evening at his home. The descendant of Mr. Howard numbered forty in all, each and everyone bringing with them the greetings to the honored head of the family, who enjoys very good health at the present time. The occasion was a rare one, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all attending.

During the evening several of the ladies present served light refreshments. Rev. T. D. Williams, pastor of the Central Methodist E. church, in behalf of the families, presented Mr. Howard with several tokens of esteem from the children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren.

Mr. Howard was born in England, May 21, 1834, and came to Rock County when a boy. He has lived in this county ever since, a period of over sixty years. Fifty-eight years ago, he married Sarah Parrant. During their married life in this vicinity, they have owned one of the best farms in La Prairie, and though eighty years of age, Mr. Howard manages the business with the vigor of youth.

THIS YEAR'S PLAY MET WITH MUCH FAVORABLE COMMENT WHEN IT WAS PRESENTED IN MADISON, AND IT IS CON- SIDERED ONE OF THE BEST PLAYS THAT THE HAREFOOT CLUB HAS EVER GIVEN.

Last Evening in Honor of Miss Lucy Granger.

Mrs. John G. Hemming entertained twelve young ladies last evening at a dinner party at her home on South Cherry street in honor of Miss Lucy Granger, whose wedding takes place the latter part of the month. The table decorations were most attractive and a delicious repast was served. The evening was spent at cards. Miss Granger is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Bradley winning the honors. The bride-to-be was given a towel shower.

ELEVEN CANDIDATES TAKE EXAMINATION LAST NIGHT

Candidates for positions of the police and fire department took examinations prepared by the committee of the fire and police commission at the city hall last evening. Seven applicants took the examination for the policeman's job on the police force. They were: Carl Anderson, Lorenz Cain, Jay Hymer, Charles Dickerson, W. S. Saxby, W. McDonald and Milton Rogers. For the fire department four took the examination: F. W. Flaherty, A. H. Richards, Charles Schulz, Chief of Police P. Champion and Fire Chief Klela will have an opportunity to choose from the applicants passing the examination.

FRIENDS GIVE SURPRISE ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasant surprise greeted Mr. and Mrs. Mace Peterson at their home, 204 Glen street, last evening when a number of their friends walked in, in honor of their wedding anniversary. The evening was spent playing cards, after which a three-course luncheon was served. The guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Peterson with a beautiful piece of silver, as a token of esteem. The guests departed for their homes at a late hour, wishing the host and hostess many more anniversaries.

Quality Merchandise

"Best Values Always" at the respective prices.
Our policy is to give high quality on a close margin of profit. We are enabled to do this through the cash system by which we conduct our business—buy for cash and sell for cash—thereby doing away with a great many poor accounts.

Our new spring stock awaiting your inspection, is the most complete in our history. We feel that our efforts this season to present the newest and best for the money, have been handsomely rewarded. All we ask is a comparison of quality, style and price, to see if we aren't entitled to our share of your business. The lines we are showing are in themselves the best evidence of the splendid showing of new merchandise.

We can supply your wants in the following lines: Hosiery, Underwear, House Dresses, Muslin Underwear, Black Petticoats, Handkerchiefs, Towels, Curtain Goods, Boys' Blouse Waists, Knee Pants, Rompers, Suspenders, Trousers, Dress Shirts, Work Shirts, Dress or Work Gloves, Neckwear, Men's Hats, Caps, Straw Hats, Overalls, Jackets, Traveling Bags, Suit Cases, Hammocks, Toilet Soap, Notions and Dinner-ware. BOARD OF EDUCATION GUESTS AT BANQUET

City School Council and Wives Enjoyed Delicious Five-Course Repast at High School
Thursday.

At six-fifteen last evening in the dining room of the high school building, nineteen guests, comprising the members of the Janesville board of education and their wives, partook of an elaborate five-course banquet, given by Miss Beth Bailey, instructor of the domestic science department, aided by sophomore domestic science girls.

The decorations were in pink and green, with baskets in the center and at each end of the table, filled with fruit. Pink cards were laid on the table before each guest. The menu was most delicious and was served in the following order:

Fruit cocktail, beef bonillon and toast sticks, baked chicken, mashed potatoes, pink lemon jelly, Parker House rolls, radishes and buttered asparagus on toast, tomato salad and water cross, with cream, water, pepper, mint, pink ice cream with pink angel food cake cubes. Coffee and after dinner mints also were served. The waitresses were three sophomores: Helen King, Hilda Woolf and Jessica George.

Aluminum ware special, 3 pieces worth $2.40, now selling at 98c and only a few left. H. L. McNamara.

A POPULAR DELUSION CONCERNING AN OLD SONG

"Comin' Thro' the Rye"—as now printed and sung, is usually attributed to Robert Burns—but as a matter of fact, only the first four lines are by Burns, the remainder having been written by Walter, an Edinburgh musician and music seller, who later moved to London.

The air to which "Comin' Thro' the Rye" has become familiar to thousands of Americans—and to which a new song—is an old melody. "The Miller's Daughter"—somewhat modified by Walter.

People generally, and the artist and commentator, have been holding regular evening practices and are fast mastering their movements on the stage. The committing of the lines came rather easy, but action in this particular play speaks louder than do the lines.

The members of the club have tickets in their possession, and those wishing to purchase early can do so by leaving their order with any of the members. The sale is growing, and members securing tickets will have the chance of reserving them as early as June the fifth.

MISS MARGARET COSTELLO IS ENTERTAINED AT SAVOY

About forty-two young ladies were present last evening at an elaborate three-course dinner given at the Savoy in honor of Miss Margaret Costello, who is to become a June bride. The table decorations were in pink and green. During the evening several piano selections were rendered. Miss Costello was presented with two beautiful pieces of cut glass.

The young ladies present were: Margaret Costello, Stella Hill, Anna Eogenschnider, Mida Broege, Arvilla Kakske, Elizabeth Byrne, Anna Robinson, Tena Weller, Rose Gibbs, Stella Hill, Anna Costello, Violet Osborne, Nettie Meisner, Lydia Rogge, Edith Tall, Edith Byrne, Ruth Costello, Gertrude Hill, Ella Mulquin, Grace Gillespie, Nettie Sullivan, Margaret Meisner, Tillie Aker, Ruth Kaufman, Ethel Kaufman, Mrs. Bradley, Amelia Pauska, Hannah Woletz, Frances Gibbs, Myrtle Gibbs, Alice Geeser, Mrs. Logerman, Frances Costello, Rachel Shuler, Theresa Horton, Leona Girkle, Katherine Foley, Kittie Cotter, Mary Wendt and Alma Elser.

DID THE WORK Grew Strong on Right Food.

You can't grow strong by merely exercising. You must have food—the kind you can digest and assimilate. Unless the food you eat is digested it adds to the burden the digestive organs have naturally to carry. This often means a nervous breakdown. "About a year ago," writes a Mass. lady, "I had quite a serious nervous breakdown caused, as I believed, by overwork and worry. I also suffered untold misery from dyspepsia. "First I gave up my position, then I tried to find a remedy for my troubles, something that would make me well and strong, something to rest my tired stomach and build up my worn-out nerves and brain. "I tried one kind of medicine after another, but nothing seemed to help me. "Finally a friend suggested change of food and recommended Grape-Nuts. With little or no faith in it, I tried a package. That was eight months ago and I have never been without it since. "Grape-Nuts did the work. It helped me grow strong and well. Grape-Nuts put new life into me, built up my whole system and made another woman of me!"

DRAMA CLUB PLAYERS REHEARSE EVERY DAY

Production to Be Given at Myers Theatre June 8th Will Be Fitted With Excellent Cast.

When the picked cast selected from the Janesville Dramatic Society present the club's first annual play at the Myers Theatre on June 8th, the people of Janesville or elsewhere who witness the production should not be surprised to be confronted with first-class acting on the part of both sexes.

The play selected for the club's first trial is a three-act sketch of modern origin, and will be played in modern costumes. At least, this is the prospect of the cast and director, Mrs. Day.

The cast of characters is composed of eleven impersonators, all fitted for their roles. They have been holding regular evening practices and are fast mastering their movements on the stage. The committing of the lines came rather easy, but action in this particular play speaks louder than do the lines.

CARDS OPEN SEASON HERE AGAINST FAST FREEPORT CITY NINE

Butlers Billed to Pitch Against Visitors.—White Sox Play Broadhead at Broadhead.

Freeport vs. Janesville Cardinals will be the bill of fare for the hungry Janesville fans Sunday afternoon at the Irving Park. This little feast will be for nine courses and the Cards declare they have a first class repast ready for the Illinois team.

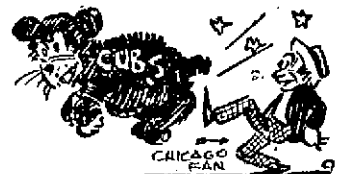

The first game of the season in Janesville promises to bring out the best of both fans. For the Cardinals "Caddy" Putters is scheduled to do the hurling, and if Butlers is in form Freeport is going to have a merry battle connected with it. Hall will be behind the plate. For first Lenahan will hold reign, and the Stoughton player is one of the fastest fielders and heaviest stickers in southern Wisconsin. Tommy Sullivan will rule over the keystone cushion. Hill at short and Trevorah will guard third. All of this quartet of fast men and capable of taking care of their share of the visiting swatsmen. For the outer garden Nehf, Berger, Sullivan and Porter have the fly-catching jobs.

Freeport has the reputation of being one of the fastest nines in northern Illinois, and have a nice string of victories to their credit so far this season. Calen and Casel are named for their battery. The blenchers at the Irving Park will hold from three hundred to four hundred people for the Sunday game. On Memorial day the Cards cross bats with the North Stars, Rockford Highlands on the thirty-first, Footville on the seventh of June.

Sox Play Broadhead.
The Janesville White Sox will meet the Broadhead nine at Broadhead Sunday afternoon, in their second game of the season. O'Hara or Lamphere will twirl for the Janesville aggregation.

Sport Snap Shots

Charlie Taft, whose Chicago Cubs have enjoyed great unpopularity in "Chi" this season, declared in a recent interview that what he wanted was a winning ball team. This is the way it works out with Charlie. A winning ball team brings the crowd, the crowd pays its way in and this makes a lot more money for Charlie.

He had that until his organization comes for a little more acclaim in their home town the crowd will be both to cluster at his park. The Cubs have not only suffered at the hands of the Cubs, but they have also been badly handicapped by a superabundance of "Charles." Charles Murphy was enough and then some. Charlie Thomas doesn't seem to be much of an improvement from a man's slant at it, and Charlie Taft the arch-Charlie of the bunch, has never touched a responding chord in the breasts of Chicago fans.

Christy Mathewson has apparently slipped into his real stride, which reminds one that the St. Louis managerial rumor involving Matty had an early and merited demise.

In spite of Branch Rickey's ideas and other manager's notions regarding the use of cigars and tobacco among ball players, it is recalled that old Cy Young smoked fat black cigars throughout his career, and he stayed under the big tent till he was forty-four. Though of course that doesn't prove anything.

Eddie Foster is leading Clark Griffith's bunch of pennant aspirants at the bat. He is clouting well up in the 300's.

Whenever Tris Speaker, in company with any of his teammates, approaches the neighborhood of a cigar counter it is seldom that he is not reminded that he is the highest paid player in the world.

Terry Turner's speed this spring makes it appear that age will never get to him. He has started out, as he did several seasons ago, to make other infielders wonder how he does it.

Ira Thomas, captain of the Athletics, is president of a building and loan association and the concern is named after the Athletics. Connie Mack and Ben Shibe are directors.

TRACK PROGRAM FOR SATURDAY COMPLETE

About Twenty Athletes Are Entered in Dozen Events at Inter-Class Dual Meet Tomorrow.

Tomorrow afternoon the high school athletes, numbering more than twenty, will engage in the first inter-class track and field meet at the Park Association grounds, beginning promptly at two o'clock. It will be the first attempt on track work, or in field events by the Janesville high school students, since the abandoning of dual work at the institution some years ago.

The meet will start with the 220 yard dash, with eight entries, all representatives from the three upper classes, the first year men not being willing to enter. The program for the afternoon is as follows:

100 Yard Dash. Rumage, Barnes, Atwood, Mount and Stickney.

Shot Put. Rau, Donahue, McCulloch, Taylor, Jones, Atwood, McVicar, Mount, Dearborn and Hemming.

Half Mile Run. Stewart, Hyzer, Lloyd Craig, Taylor, Smiley and Stewart Pond.

High Jump. Laughlin, Donahue, Hyzer, Amerphol, Atwood, Rau and Smiley.

220 Yard Dash. Rumage, Barnes, Smiley, Atwood, Mount and Stewart Pond.

Forward Pass. Stewart and Dalton.

Dalton and Stewart. Dalton and Stewart. Rau and Stickney. Atwood and Smiley. Hemming and Hays. In each case the first named in the groups of twos will deliver the pass, and the latter named will receive it. 440 Yard Dash. Stewart, Jones, Rumage, Barnes, Smiley, McVicar and Hemming.

Pole Vault. Laughlin, Donahue, Mooney, Taylor, Atwood, Stewart Pond, McVicar and Kober.

Punt. Stewart, McCulloch, Taylor, Atwood, Mount and Hemming.

One Mile Run. Lloyd Craig, Mooney, Taylor, Lewis, Roherty, Barnes, E. Pond and Heath.

Broad Jump. Dalton, Laughlin, Stewart, Donahue, McCulloch, Jones, Amerphol, Barnes, Smiley, McVicar, Dearborn and Hemming.

Half Mile Relay Race. This race will be run by teams from each of the four classes in the high school. Each contestant will run one-fourth of a mile.

AMUSEMENTS

THE APOLLO.

Four extremely good acts are being presented at the Apollo this week, every one of which is a feature. The Leicht-Weber Quartette is a very high class singing organization, all properly dressed and possessed in good taste. They render a high class program and are at their best in grand opera. A better quartette has never been heard here.

Elina Gardner mimicked her way into the hearts of the audience with her impersonations of babes and children. Her imitations were startling and realistic as well as amusing.

The Ozava present a bit of the cleverest juggling of the audience with her witness. Both the man and the woman are perfect in their art.

The Three Craigs give a circus rehearsal that is funny and shows some highly good acrobatic work on the part of the young lady and the two men.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

One of the most noted features of the season was presented last night by Savoy and Company. The dogs did marvelous tumbling acts and seemed to enjoy the stunts as much as the audience. At the close a large ball was thrown by the audience and the dogs would send it back by jumping at it and hitting it with their noses. All of the dogs participated in the game and the fun, and got out of it seemed to be even greater than that of the audience. The little folks particularly seemed to enjoy this act.

Barber & Jackson, the long and short of it, present a novel singing and dancing act that's very good. Their "Old Black Crow on a Hickory Limb" song being particularly enjoyable. Arthur Turelly entertains by rendering some difficult grand opera selections on a harmonica. This program will be given again tonight, tomorrow and Sunday night and matinee each afternoon. In addition to the vaudeville series Number 5 of the Lucille Love pictures will be shown. Tomorrow and Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle will be shown before the camera.

TANGERS IN MAD RACE IN INTERCITY CONTESTS: MAY FORM TANGO LEAGUE.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Youngstown, May 22.—How the tango, hesitated, maximo and the various other taperscherean creations that bud, bloom and fade away from time to time, may be utilized for inter-city contests of skill was demonstrated for the first time here today. Contestants from Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Akron, Westfield, N. Y. and other cities glided over a glassy floor here today before the judges stand for honors. With the contest today came talk of forming leagues for tangoers just like inter-city baseball, hockey boxing and other forms of contests. Tango fetes in the various cities, it was ventured by promoters today will draw crowds far more in number than many of the other forms of amusement.

Standing Up and Sitting Up.

Lady do Bathe (Mrs. Langtry) once made the piquant remark that she was "a foe to dissipation or anything of that kind, and I would urge every girl to say 'No' to the dissipated man, who would marry her. The man a girl is obliged to stand up for before marriage, she will have to sit up for afterward."

SOME ILLUSIONS.

"According to a count assumed as sufficiently trustworthy for present purposes, Mexico has had fifty-three rulers in ninety-three years. She has had just one good one, who reigned (using the word advisedly) for forty years, and he was Porfirio Diaz. He did not believe in popular government; and if it is not too late to do him justice, the people of Mexico did not, and do not, believe in it either," says the Wall Street Journal.

"There is a belief in popular government in this country which is highly altruistic, in the essential respect that it ignores plain facts. The men who made the United States constitution were of British birth or descent. They came of a race which had become homogeneous before America was discovered. It was a race which had exacted from its rulers Magna Charta and the Petition of Rights, and the Habeas Corpus act. It was a race of high intelligence which gained freedom on its merits, and knew that the freedom that it gained implied the reciprocal obligation of obedience to the laws it created.

"It is sometimes asked why, when we are reading lessons about lawlessness to the rest of the world, that we have more murders per capita and less respect for law than some of the other nations we profess to despise. The fact is that the people who made the United States constitution, and their descendants, have been adulterated by the Pentecostal seepings landing at Ellis Island any day of the week. We claim that our public schools absorb these through the next generation. They do not and if we are honest with ourselves, we know that they do not.

"This is said with a full belief that the cure for the evils of democracy is more democracy. But is it not possible to establish a kind of democracy in a popular government, such as the Fathers of this Union would have approved? Why not have a franchise which every man could attain, with a limited amount of education and earning capacity? Why not require something more than the mere counting of noses to decide questions often requiring a trained judicial mind?

"There has never been in South America a problem of colored voters such as exists in any of our southern states. The reason is that the Kaffir, far outnumbering the whites, is allowed to vote, but must fulfill the requirements imposed also on the white man. He must show that he can read and write, and that either he owns a named sum weekly, or owns property yielding that amount. The consequence is that the colored voter who qualifies is, if anything, more conservative than the white.

"Why not establish an electorate in this country to which anyone with the commonest industry and intelligence can attain, based upon education and a tangible interest in the country and its welfare?"

COMMERCIAL UNITY.

"It will probably startle some of our manufacturers to have a committee of citizens evince an interest in the industries but it will prove a means of bringing others to the support of those you now have," writes Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to the president of a commercial organization in a neighboring city.

"Take an inventory of the industries you now have," continues Mr. Wheeler. "Ascertain what your commercial organization can do for these, even the smallest, and increase their efficiency, and their prosperity. The city that strives for more industries and withholds encouragement and patronage from the industries it already possesses, will fall as an industrial center and will deserve to fail."

Janesville should be made a buying center for the entire territory tributary to this city. It should count as your city limits, an area twenty miles in every direction. Build good roads, and above all things, make the city a place of business, where merchants and their more industries and withholds encouragement and patronage from the industries it already possesses, will fall as an industrial center and will deserve to fail."

Growth depends upon the measure of co-operation you will give to your city administration. Administrations come and go and party changes may take place, but organization should be permanent factor for civic good, always the same, and always ready to support any progressive movement.

Interest in the proposed Janesville fair has not waned. Members of the directors continue to report subscriptions to the stock from residents of the county, which total from four to eight hundred dollars daily. This shows a healthy interest in the success of the undertaking and there is no reason why it should not be.

Oiling of the city streets is progressing far more rapidly than in past years and the oil used appears to be far more suitable for the purpose designed than that spread down last summer. Street Commissioner Goodman is making things hum in his department.

That question of ball grounds for the small boys of the city is still undecided. If you have any views on the subject be free to express them. It is up to someone to make a move in behalf of the youthful athletes who delight in out-of-door, manly exercises.

Janesville's Fourth of July committee has mapped out a program for the day's doings that promises to be both interesting and unique. It takes money to swing these affairs and several hundred more dollars are still needed in the treasury.

Those summer vegetables are going to taste mighty good when picked fresh from your garden despite all the backaches that it took to plant and cultivate them.

President Wilson is still waiting and watching for some definite sound like the cooing of the dove of peace at Niagara.

Villa appears to be the man of the hour in Mexico with Huerta a mere second fiddle.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE FACTORY AT AN UNUSUAL BARGAIN

JANESVILLE CAN SECURE LOCATION OF A CONCERN WITH BIG FUTURE.

UP TO THE CITIZENS

To Subscribe Liberally to the Bond and Stock Issue.—Time is Short to Make Decision.

For several years past Janesville has endeavored to secure a good factory to locate in the city. The opportunity for obtaining one that fits all the requirements has come. There should be no delay in subscribing the necessary funds for stock and bond subscriptions. The fact that one of the leading financial men of the city wired to a special agent in the city where the concern is now located to find the exact status of affairs and received back a report that was more than encouraging, should satisfy the doubters that this is a legitimate chance to further the interests of Janesville.

One of the gentlemen interested in bringing the factory to Janesville has written the following communication on the subject which should be read with interest by all who are looking for the up-building of the city's industry.

The question of locating a tool factory here is narrowing down to the point of the citizens' desire for new institutions in Janesville. It is the opinion of those building with the situation that the proposition under consideration is the best thing that the city has had presented in many years. The product, a turret lathe, is perfected and already giving splendid satisfaction. The plant, which produces it is valued at $50,000 and can be purchased from the court for $25,000. These facts are purely incidental, however, to the main issue, for more than a year several citizens of the city have endeavored to interest one of the foremost turret lathe men in the United States to move his plant to Janesville. This he will do within the next two years, providing Janesville people will come forward and locate a plant to manufacture a smaller machine, the one, in fact, that is being financed now, and which this same gentleman will assume supervision over. In a nutshell, by locating this smaller plant in Janesville, we shall secure the larger plant in the course of a short time, meaning the addition of another major industry to the city. The investment is safe; either bonds, preferred or common stock can be purchased. A careful investigation covering all details, can be made before one cent is paid out. The profits of the concern will run about thirty per cent. Fifty thousand dollars must be raised and about $25,000 are in sight. The committee are at work. If you want these factories for Janesville be liberal with your subscription. The men who are carrying on the work are busy. They have no more time to give. Which shall it be? New industries or not?

WANT LATER SERVICE ON LOCAL CAR LINE

Twenty-Five Thousand Club Committee Expected to Take Up Matter With Manager Sparks.

Members of the Twenty-Five Thousand club street car service committee, at an informal conference at the city hall last evening, talked over matters relative to an improvement of the service in this city, decided to confer with Manager Sparks at Rockford, urging the necessity for later service at night and adjourned until next Wednesday, when more definite business will be transacted. With regard to later service the committee felt that nine-thirty was too early in the evening to discontinue the cars as it left no accommodations for persons who attended the last shows at the theatres. With reference to the proposed loop of the interurban in and out of the city on Franklin and Milwaukee and Main streets, it was found that the difficulties presented were too complex to make possible any certain assurance of the adoption of the plan.

COMMISSION HOLDS HEARING IN JUNE

State Railroad Commission Will Give Valuation of Water Company Public on June 24th.

Notice was received by Mayor James A. Fathers from Lewis G. Gettle, secretary of the state railroad commission, this morning, that the commission will hold a hearing at Madison on June 24th for the purpose of placing a valuation on the Janesville Water company. Notice was also sent to officials of the water company. This is the next important step in acquiring of the plant by the city of Janesville since the election of May 12th. One June twenty-fourth the rate commission will probably make the figure they have arrived at as the proper purchasing price for the city to pay for the water company's plant. Both the city and company will be represented at the negotiations and an attempt will be made to arrive at an amicable agreement.

Greek Nose Most Artistic.
The relation of the nose to the other features is marked. Broad, flat noses are usually accompanied by large mouths and thick lips, while well-proportioned noses generally have finely cut mouths, well formed eyebrows, and delicately shaped ears. Most of us prefer, from an artistic point of view, small, straight noses, not too high, corresponding with the Greek ideal.

God's Appeal to the Backslider

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.
Dean of Moody Bible Institute
Chicago

EXOD. "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God, for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity."—Hosea 14:1.

While but one verse is indicated as the text, yet it would be better to read carefully the whole chapter which is full of divine grace.

The Israelites were God's chosen people and represent those who today profess and call themselves Christians. It is only such who can backslide. As Mr. Spurgeon once said, "No one can slide back who has not first slid forward," and it is only the believer on the Lord Jesus Christ who has taken that forward step. Alas! that there are so many backslidden Christians in the visible church, but thanks be to God that there is hope for them if they will return unto him.

Notice the text closely. God has not cast off his people, but they have cast themselves off. He still says, "Return unto the Lord thy God," calling himself their God although they had forsaken him. And furthermore, "Thou hast fallen by thine iniquity." Were it not for their iniquity there would have been no separation between him and them.

But his grace does not end here, for he tells them how to return. "Take with you words and turn to the Lord." Not "works" but "words." This does not mean that the words will not be followed by the works, but only that the words must come before the works can really be done. They must be words of confession, "Take away all iniquity"; words of faith, "receive us graciously"; words of promise, "so will we render the calves (praises) of our lips"; words of repentance, "Asshur shall not save us, we will not ride upon horses, neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, ye are our gods"; words of trust and confidence, "for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy."

That allusion to "Asshur," or "Assyria," is interesting. In her affliction at the hands of the heathen Israel had turned to Assyria for help. Instead of Jehovah, and this had been one of the causes as well as one of the effects of her backsliding, but Jehovah now calls upon her to cease trusting in that arm of flesh and to trust in him. And so the reference to "horses" is an allusion to her confidence in Egypt, a nation that used horses in its warfare. Israel was no longer to trust in the horses of Egypt if she would have God's favor, who could bring victory to her arms without such material assistance.

How God Meets the Backslider.

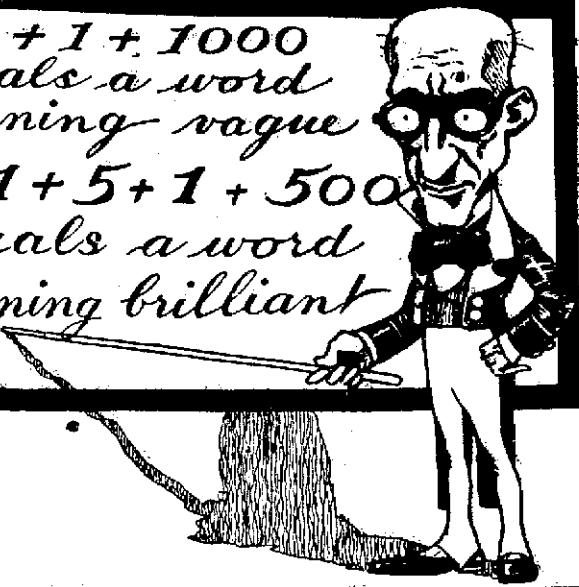

And how comforting are the words of Jehovah that follow later. On the supposition that Israel will return as he has indicated, he exclaims: "I will heal their backsliding; I will love them freely, for mine anger is turned away from them. I will be as the dew unto Israel." The backslider is like a sheep which has wandered from the fold and become torn by the briars or the wild beasts, or suffered injury by falling over the rocks. He is wounded in soul and needs healing and binding up of his wounds, and this God promises him. But think of the next promise—"I will love them freely," or "eagerly," as the word might be rendered. It is the picture of the father in the story of the prodigal, who seeing his son afar off runs out to meet him in the gladness of his heart. Oh, what a God and Father we have. Who would not return to him! And yet, God does even more than this for the returning prodigal, for he says, "I will be as the dew unto Israel." The dew was everything to the land of Palestine in the absence of such rains as we experience in the occident, and it is the type of the Holy Spirit in the believer's heart and life. As God gave the dew to Israel, keeping her fresh and green and fruitful, so he gives his Holy Spirit to those who come to him in Christ for like spiritual blessing.

The Believer's Blessings.
Carrying out the type, God says of the backslider who has returned to him that "he shall grow as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon. His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive tree and his smell as Lebanon. They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and grow as the vine. The scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon." We cannot dwell on all these beautiful figures, but they speak of growth and strength, and extensive influence. They speak of the beauty and the fragrance of the Christian life, and its beneficence to others in the highest and truest sense, and all because the favor of God is resting upon him. If you are a backslider, no matter how long or how far you have wandered from God, be comforted today to return to him in the faith of Christ and start again in the path of a holy pilgrimage.

TO SEND DELEGATES TO GENEVA MEETING

Janesville Will Be Represented at Summer Conference of Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Janesville will be represented by six delegates to the fourth summer conference of the Laymen's Missionary movement which will be held at the shore of Lake Geneva, Switzerland, from Wednesday through Sunday, July 20 to August 2. The selection of the Janesville delegation will be made at a meeting of the city board of church and society, which will be held at the city hall, Tuesday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock.

James M. Spencer, president of the conference, and Mr. R. C. Galt, will be chairman of the conference, and John T. Stone of Baltimore, Md., will be vice-chairman. Dr. H. C. Herring will preside over the conference. The conference will be held at the shore of Lake Geneva, Switzerland, from Wednesday through Sunday, July 20 to August 2. The selection of the Janesville delegation will be made at a meeting of the city board of church and society, which will be held at the city hall, Tuesday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock.

Dr. F. H. Herring, president of the conference, will be chairman of the conference, and John T. Stone of Baltimore, Md., will be vice-chairman. Dr. H. C. Herring will preside over the conference. The conference will be held at the shore of Lake Geneva, Switzerland, from Wednesday through Sunday, July 20 to August 2. The selection of the Janesville delegation will be made at a meeting of the city board of church and society, which will be held at the city hall, Tuesday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock.

The secretary of other houses have similar far-reaching plans. Some of them will make unusual efforts to induce their ministers and laymen to attend the conference. One of the best houses each day is to be given up to separate denominational conferences from 10 to 11:15 a. m.

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, May 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Chris Olson and Miss Hilda Olson returned to Brooklyn Sunday, where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson.

At the last business meeting of the Epworth League the following officers were elected: President—W. Edwin White. First vice president—Miss Ruth Milbrand. Second vice president—Miss Ethel Winter.

Third vice president—Miss Ethel Smith. Fourth vice president—Miss Lottie Richards.

Secretary—Miss Ava Winter. Treasurer—Miss Jessie White.

Organist—Miss Jessie White. Miss Frances Karmann of Chicago has been spending a few days at the home of her father.

Mrs. Hetta Jones of Evansville was an over Sunday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. John Odegaard and Miss E. Odegaard visited relatives in Madison Sunday.

Dr. A. B. Smith of Woodstock, Ill., spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Barnett and daughter, Miss Hoy, were Madison visitors Monday.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, May 20.—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Adelson and daughter Ruth spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mackworth, near Beloit.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

"TIZ" for puffed-up, burning, sweaty, calloused feet and corns.

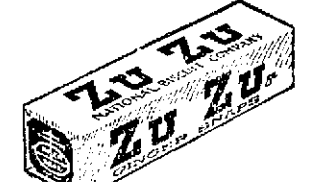

When four poor, suffering feet, stinging from walking, when you try to wriggle your corns away from the leather of your shoes, when your feet are swollen, sore, chafed, don't expect relief—just use "TIZ". Get instant relief. "TIZ" puts peace in tired, aching, painful feet. Walk five miles, your shoes feel like new. Your feet won't hurt you, won't swell after using "TIZ".

Sore, tender, sweaty, smelly feet need "TIZ" because it's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet and cause foot torture. "TIZ" is the only remedy that takes pain and soreness right out of corns, callouses and bunions. Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drugstore or department store. Get a whole year's foot comfort for 25 cents. Think of it!

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, May 22.—Miss Emma Sater, who came from Chicago a few weeks ago to assist in caring for her father, returned to her duties there the early part of the week.

Miss Hazel Taylor closed a very successful term of school in her home district on Wednesday.

James Doherty of Monroe secured judgment for fifty-four dollars and costs against John Valters of the town of Spring Valley, in Justice Taylor's court on Tuesday. The account was an unpaid balance on a promissory note. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

Sherrill Whipple was in the village on Thursday transacting business connected with his office.

The officials of the railroad made an inspection tour of the Mineral Point division on Wednesday, going west in the morning and returning in the afternoon. Their car was attached to the regular train.

Several scholars from neighboring school districts went to Haverock on Thursday to attend the examination being conducted there for diplomas.

The drainage question has been occupying the attention of the people in this locality for the past few days. On Thursday both the commission and properly holders were on the scene of action with witnesses and attorneys, and the case of those who deem themselves aggrieved will soon receive attention in the courts.

The village is at last determined to enforce the village ordinance regarding the riding of bicycles and other vehicles on the sidewalks of the village. They have posted notices informing the public that all violators are to be summarily dealt with. This action is the result of complaints that have been entered and of several accidents that have been narrowly averted.

LATEST VOLUMES ON SHELVES AT LIBRARY

Fifty-Eight Valuable Books, All Up-To-Date, Have Been Added To List For All Readers.

The Janesville Public Library is the proud institution of fifty-eight of the latest books, just received, and ready to be read by the readers of the city. A volume of "Collected Poems" written by Alfred Noyes, the English writer, is among the new additions, as is the "Artilleryman's Diary," written by the well known former Janesville man, Jenkin Lloyd Jones. An autobiography of Theodore Roosevelt, is found in the new list, and contains some excellent material on our president, written by himself. The list is as follows:

Drama, Essays, Poetry. Collected poems, by Alfred Noyes. John Bull's other island, by Shaw. Our Irish theatre, by Lady Gregory. Story of a round house, by Masefield.

Summit of the years, by Burroughs. Well of the saints, by Sygne.

History. Artilleryman's diary, by Jenkin Lloyd Jones. History of the reconstruction period, by Schouler.

Travel. Mexico, the wonderland of the South, by Carson. Mexico today, by Winton. South Pole, by Amundsen. Under the sky in California, by Saunders.

Biography. Theodore Roosevelt, an autobiography. Who's who, 1914.

Miscellaneous. Advice to violin students, by Ritz. Bible and the spade, by Banks. Book of parties and pastimes, by Dawson & Telford. Dame Currier's book of candy making, by Glover.

Making of a town, by McVey. Modern gasoline automobile, by Page.

Shelter and clothing, by Kinne & Cooley.

In addition, thirty-five new German books have been received from the Traveling Library Department. This is the most attractive collection of German books ever received at the library, as the volumes are all in new fresh bindings, coming directly from the publishers, and many interesting titles are included.

Pie!! Pie!! Pie!!

Snow-Mellow

Makes the Pie For Me

Home-made pies made with Snow-Mellow are better than any pies you ever tasted. Try this recipe today and be delighted and convinced. Beat up one tablespoonful of Snow-Mellow according to directions in the package, to which you add one egg, one cup of sugar, one cup of flour, and one cup of lemon juice. Fill with pie crust and bake in a quick oven. This makes a pie fit for a king. Every 25c box of Snow-Mellow makes seven desserts for four to six people. One 25c box of original recipe shows 28 ways in which it can be used. Your grocer has Snow-Mellow, price 25c, or sent by mail on receipt of price, with book and patent, better free. Write you send your grocer's name to Frank & Hogen, Sales Agts., 627 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 22, 1874.—The well known case of Houie vs. Town of Fulton, being an action for damages for injuries sustained at Stone's bridge, which has been tried three times in the circuit court of this county and twice in the Supreme court, has recently been decided again in the supreme court in favor of the plaintiff, judgement below being confirmed, damages $2,740. Attorneys for the plaintiff Williams and Sale, for the defendant I. C. Sloan and John Winans.

Mr. Daniel Strunk of this city, who represents the Harris Manufacturing company in Germany, sends encouraging news concerning the reception of the Little Champion Reaper in Waterloo. It is a wonder among wonders to the Deutschlanders, a little champion carrying all before it with more uniform success than any other reaper. The circulars and pamphlets have conveyed a new idea of typographical excellence to the land which gave printing to the world.

The first strawberries to arrive in this city this year were in view on M. & B. Conant's store yesterday and the second assignment will arrive at that establishment tomorrow afternoon. Last year the earliest berries cost seventy five cents per quart box while this year the opening consignments are only forty cents.

The City Fathers are suffering a declension of their glory in the absence of Alderman Church who is visiting a brother in Denver City, Colorado. The worthy alderman will extend his trip to the Pacific coast and Janesville may not be gladdened by the light of his countenance for many weeks.

Just as we were going to press we received an intimation that a meeting will be held in the council chambers at eight this evening to make arrangements for the celebration on Decoration Day, in a manner becoming the dignity of Janesville.

SKITCH Makes It—SKITCH Cleans the Clothes Without Rubbing—Cleans Them Better, Doesn't Hurt the Finest Fabric, Saves the Backache, and Saves Soap.

SKITCH is just wonderful! Think of not having to rub your clothes on a wash-board—no use of scalding and reddening your hands in hot suds—no use wearing your clothes out by rubbing—no use wasting soap on the washboard. Let SKITCH drive the hard work away from wash-day. A ten cent package is enough for seven washings. Nearly all grocers have SKITCH—if yours hasn't he can get it for you from his jobber. Get SKITCH and smash your wash-boards to pieces.

If any grocer won't supply you with SKITCH send me his name. I'll send you a sample free. Hans Fichtenberg, Milwaukee, Wis.

Don't Go Back On Your Home Town

"I am going to leave this town, it's no good; you can't make a living here," said a young man to his mother a few months back. The boy's father was reading in the next room. He came to the door.

"I was not listening, son. I heard what you said. Get this! If you cannot earn a living in this town, whose fault is it? Conditions in most towns are the same. You will leave here, wander about; spend your time and money and in the end no doubt return to do what you are now defiantly claiming cannot be done in this town." The boy listened in sullen silence. He had been out job-seeking. He told his father so.

The father advised him to run an ad in his home town paper, one that would prove to the employers that a boy of grit and energy was out for work. He did so. He is making a living, in a position that has a good future.

Well? Do you believe in the judicious use of the want ad page? Do you know how strong its power is in your everyday life?

NOTES ON LINGERIE

BY MARGARET MASON

Latest Novelty is Naming of New Lingerie—Many Novel Cuts Offered.

(By Margaret Mason.)

New York, May 22.—Even if your underwear doesn't answer to all the requirements of modesty and propriety these days it simply must answer to a name or it isn't up-to-date. Most any deluded husband casting a weather eye over his wife's dressing list and catching such items as "rose model Dorothea trimmed in pink ribbon" or "one pink and white Bottina, medium weight," would hardly offer to do her shopping for her. Quite the best he would get however would be a combination or a nightie not forgetting a good sized bill.

Just fancy calling your chemise by a pet name. You see they run in sets. For instance, the "Marcelle Envelope chemise, and the Marcelle nightgown all very Frenchy and hand made, of sheerest batiste banded in pink and white striped madras. Think how embarrassing it would be to get mixed and call your domestic machine-made blouse combination by a hand made name, it simply wouldn't do at all. They really don't go in the same set, you know.

Aside from the novelty of naming the new lingerie there are lots of novelties in the cut, materials and trimmings also. More and more color is creeping into the underwear and delicate pink particularly lies faintly blushing against my lady fashions satin skin.

The trimming of nightgowns, combinations, chemises and drawers in bands of pink and white, blue and white, green and white, or lavender and white striped madras is very quaint and Frenchy, especially when the material proper is of sheerest French batiste. Bands of one toned old blue, pink, and lavender batiste is also very desirable as trimming as well as bands of thin flowered organdie and lawn. Sets of all over flowered organdie, lawn, and chiffon are lovely beyond words and also beyond price except for the handy home dressmaker who can copy these expensive imported delights for little or nothing as the flowered material especially requires little trimming save a narrow lace heading or a tiny edge.

The envelope chemise is perhaps the most popular of the many novel cuts. It is a regulation chemise down to the knees when the back of the skirt part is narrowed into a flap effect that passes between the knees and fastens up on the front edge of the skirt in a envelope. The chemise is made of French cotton, accordion plaited and guilotté or shoulder straps that are held up over the bust and under the arms with an elastic band around the top are very practical for the transparent and low-cut evening bodices now in vogue.

The three striking characteristics that differentiate the lingerie of today from that of yesterday, are first, simplicity of cut and trimming in lieu of the fluff and flounce of the lace filled things we used to wear; second, use of colored and figured material; and, third, sheerness and transparency. Nowadays underwear doesn't conceal anything—not even its real name.

Grandiose not only plays an important part among lingerie this season but also as a frock accessory. No matter of what material your gown, taffeta or crepe, gabardine or cotton fabric, it must have a touch of sheerest white organdie as a surplice front, a gladstone collar, or puffed undersleeves.

Paris fashion which has all the transparency and the general effect of organdie and which can be laundered much more successfully is a water substitute for the thin material. Never looks well to be really smart and correct the edges of your collar, sleeves and surplice must be finished with a handsome, hot edge. For the very best hot days to come adorable thin whole frocks of organdie especially is ideal for the ruffles and puffs of the moment and as cool as it is charming.

Liberty is the right to do what the law allows; and if a citizen could do what they forbid it would be no longer liberty, because others would have the same power.—Montesquieu.

Women Worth While

MRS. DAVID FRANKLIN HOUSTON.

By Selma Armstrong Harmon.

Mrs. David Franklin Houston, wife of the secretary of agriculture, is the busiest woman in the cabinet circle of the Wilson administration. Her youngest baby is fifteen months old. Her next youngest is three years old. There now? Do you any longer doubt that she is really the busiest of the cabinet women? Moreover, she has a boy of fourteen—a boy with a bright, vigorous mind that is a delight to his comrade and best friend, his mother.

Then, Mrs. Houston, like most of the other ladies of the cabinet, employs no social secretary. She must personally accept or decline hundreds of invitations; respond to the numerous appeals which every woman in public life receives for help of one sort or another, and reply to many letters from the various organizations that solicit her co-operation and membership. Add to these demands the duties of the conscientious and faithful housekeeper, the hundreds of calls that must be received and returned by her, and the various social functions of an official character that must be attended, and you get some idea of just how busy a woman she may be.

Yes, I have many interests, I think the older one becomes the more one's interests broaden," she said to me, looking remarkably young and girlish as she made the remark. "But since coming to Washington it has been impossible to ally myself with any clubs or organizations whatsoever, or to take up any work along the line of social service. At home I have had some experience in this latter field. Here in Washington I have been able to give my time only to the immediate duties that confronted me—the ordering of my household, the care of my children, the meeting of necessary social engagements."

Mrs. Houston is fond of social life. Also, she possesses the requirements for a successful social career. The rest and enthusiasm with which she has entered upon her life at the capital have already made her one of the most popular of the Democratic hostesses. She has a naturalness and graciousness of manner that are exceedingly attractive.

Austin, Texas, is Mrs. Houston's birthplace and girlhood home, as it is that of another cabinet member's wife, Mrs. Albert S. Burleson. After having been graduated from the University of Texas, Mrs. Houston taught for a year in the public schools of Austin. Her husband was at one time professor of economics, and later dean, then president of the University of Texas.

The Houston's three children are Franklin, a boy of fourteen; Helen, a little girl of three, and Lawrence, a baby. All three are bouncing, fresh air specimens of modern methods in baby culture. The biggest, sunniest room in the Houston house is devoted to the use of a nursery, and here Mrs. Houston finds time to spend many happy hours.

To make good toast on a gasoline stove take an asbestos lid and turn the gasoline low. Put a pinch of ginger in your yeast. It will give your bread a better flavor.

THE TABLE.

Baked Rhubarb—Clean and wipe dry enough rhubarb to make one and one-half pints when cut in half-inch lengths. Mix one teaspoon of chopped orange peel with two cups of sugar. Put layer of rhubarb in bottom of square pan. Sprinkle with sugar, and orange peel. Alternate until all rhubarb and a sugar are used. Turn three tablespoons of cold water over top. Bake until tender in slow oven.

Creamed Celery—Clean, wash and boil some stalks of celery and when tender press through a vegetable ricer. Season well with melted butter, pepper and salt and moisten with cream sauce. Toast thin slices of bread and moisten each with a little hot cream. Line a deep dish with the toast, pour in celery and top with slices of toast. Put a thin layer of cream sauce over eral and brown for ten minutes in a hot oven.

Tomato Pie—Peel, blanch and slice a good-sized onion, and fry in hot fat till slightly browned. Peel and slice one pound of tomatoes or use one pound of canned tomatoes. Put a layer of the fried onion at the bottom of the pie dish, then a layer of tomato seasoned with salt and pepper, and a layer of white bread crumbs with some tiny bits of butter here and there. Repeat these layers till the dish is nearly full, then cover with a crust of boiled potatoes smoothly mashed up with milk and butter. Score the top with fork and bake in a quick oven till delicately browned.

Chicken Broth With Rice—Use broth left from chicken. Heat hot. When nearly ready prepare balls. Chop the marrow from one round steak. Add one cup of cold boiled rice. Salt, pepper and a dash of ground allspice. Mix with one whole egg. Mold into balls and drop into hot broth for three minutes.

Fig and Nut Jelly—Wash a cup of pulled figs in cold water. Put over slow fire with two cups of cold water and stew figs until tender. Skim out figs and to the juice add one-half cup of sugar and boil until it is like thin syrup (there should be one cup of liquid). Chop figs and one-quarter cup of shelled pecans not very fine. Soak one-half box of gelatin in one cup of cold water for half an hour. To the gelatin add one-half teaspoon of lemon juice, and to the fig syrup add one-half cup of boiling water and one-half cup of sherry. Strain through fine sieve or piece of cheese cloth. When nearly set add nuts and figs. Turn into molds and set in cool place for three hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Strawberry Sherbet—Four cups water, one and one-half cups sugar, two cups strawberry juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, two egg whites. Boil water and one and one-quarter cups sugar six minutes, add fruit juices. Cool. Put into freezer and when nearly frozen add meringue made of egg whites and one-quarter cup of sugar.

When the Flea Flew.

It is probable that the ancestors of the fleas were winged insects, and that the organs of flight were gradually lost as they became useless, when a partially parasitic life was adopted.

A NEIGHBOR of mine wants me to tell my reader friends about the summer vacation which she took last year.

For many years this family has taken a cottage at a summer resort. Last year, for several reasons, this was impossible. I was laid up and my dear husband, who is a doctor, couldn't go on with the work at home. You know it's not so hard at a summer cottage, because you live so much more simply. One night in June I was thinking it over rather bitterly, when the idea came to me—why not have a summer vacation at home? After all, there's nothing to prevent our living simply right here. Why not pretend it's a summer cottage, and live as if it were?

And so we did. In the first place, we went through the house and took out all the things we didn't really need, such as ornaments, some of the draperies and rugs, and some of the furniture, and put them all together in a store-room upstairs. The children helped me and we pretended we were moving to our summer house, and made quite a game of it. You can't imagine how much simpler that made it to keep the house in order, and it was no more bare than a summer cottage.

We used a great many paper dishes and napkins at camp, and so we did the same thing in our home vacation.

"Then at camp we never do so much cooking. We buy our bread, you know you can really get just as good bread at a good bakery, and if you can't your neighbor will do it for you. I tried to make it up to them. We have nice boughten crackers instead of cake, and for dessert we almost always have some kind of fruit. I did all this at home, and in addition as a treat for the children, I bought a small, convenient freezer and let them make simple ices or sherbets whenever they wanted.

There are many more conveniences in my home than in a summer cottage, so altogether, I found the work decidedly easier than it would have been if we had gone away. Of course, I missed the change, and the worst thing was the children's disappointment. But I tried to make it up to them. Not having to pay cottage rent, my husband allowed me a little money for amusement, and once or twice a week I took the children on a picnic of some sort. Children get a lot of fun out of anticipation and to always have something like this to look forward to helped.

Then, as I said before, I let them make ice cream whenever they wanted, and have little ice cream parties for their friends. Another thing which they always enjoyed was having lunch on the veranda. They were glad to do the extra work involved. Fortunately we have a large back yard, so I let them go barefoot, which they love to do.

So, altogether, our summer wasn't at all the disappointment and failure it would have been if we hadn't made up our minds to have our vacation at home.

Needless to say I'm happy to pass along this little story. Part of the attractiveness of life at the summer camp is that it is life stripped of its formalities and reduced to its lowest terms. A summer at home can be made a vacation at home, if we will only remember this fact.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it right for a girl of fourteen to go out with a boy of sixteen?

(2) Is it right to wear other people's jewelry?

(3) My hair is very curly. I want to make it straight. Do you think I should?

ROSE.

CHEEKS. (1) As long as you are both sensible and do not permit any foolishness between you, it is a good idea for a boy and girl to be friends. But consider him as just a friend, my dear, and not a lover. In fact, a boy friend is worth a great deal more to you than a boy lover.

(2) No. You are apt to lose or damage it and then you are responsible for the loss. A girl should never wear a boy's jewelry, nor a boy a girl's unless they are engaged to be married, as it gives a wrong impression to other people.

(3) Curly hair is very pretty, my dear. Why not be contented with the sort of hair God gave you? Keep it clean and well brushed and make it becomingly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me if it is right to go to picture shows with a boy?

BROWN EYES. Picture shows of the right sort do no harm to boys and girls, and if the boy is respectable and your parents approve of your going with him I do not see why you should not enjoy going. Don't stay out late at night, however, as that is never best for a girl's health or morals.

My dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Please tell me how to keep my hair blond.

(2) Please give me a good shampoo.

(3) If your hair is not naturally blond I do not see how you can keep it so unless you wish to bleach it. Bleaching deadens the hair and causes it. However, when shampooing the hair, you can add a very little peroxide to the last rinsing water, if you wish. This will tend to keep the hair light.

(4) I know of nothing better than the egg shampoo. Beat up two or three eggs and rub them well into the hair and scalp. Let them dry in. Then prepare warm (not hot) water, with either a teaspoon of ammonia or baking soda to a gallon of water. Rinse out the egg. Then rinse several times in clear water until all the soil is out of the hair. Brush the hair dry with a clean

These little toes had "GETS-IT"

In a toe. It's goodbye Johnnie. You apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds—no fussing with pinners that don't stay put, with salves that make corns "pull" and make the toe beefy and raw, with knives, scissors, razors and diggers that make corns grow faster and that may cause blood poisoning from corn-cutting and corn bleeding. "GETS-IT" shrivels up corns, then comes right off. That's the new principle. It's the common sense. No more corn-pains. "GETS-IT" is safe and never hurts the flesh. Get rid of corns and calluses. "GETS-IT" is sold at the bottle by all druggists, or sent direct if you wish, from F. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get At the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way, when the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

Mother Stanislaus Tells of Recovery

Throat Troubles, like continued coughs and colds, often seriously affect the lungs. If you have not found any improvement from the treatment you have tried, investigate the many reports showing complete recoveries brought about by the use of Eckman's Alternative. This is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, favorably known for more than fifteen years. Read this case:

Corvett of St. Anne, Missouri, Feb. 1911. Four doctors examined my throat and pronounced the necessity of an operation. I was taken to the Sisters of St. Francis, where I was visiting. Eckman's Alternative, I determined as a last resort to try. After taking four or five bottles large pieces of diseased tissue came away. I continued the Alternative, to my grateful surprise, daily relief. In ten months I was restored to perfect health. I would be glad to write or talk to any person who may have a doubt about it. I would like them to see and hear from my own lips. If they so desire, all I would say is, "I am cured."

(Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stomach Troubles, and in upholding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of cures, and write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

The Governor's Lady

A Novelization of Alice Bradley's Play

By Gertrude Stebens

The story is a direct narrative of a fancied incompatibility between a self-made, iron-willed man and the humble, home-loving wife of his early struggles.

CHAPTER I.

Daniel Slade sat reading the evening newspaper in the handsomely appointed library of his spacious home. To all intents he was a man at peace with the world. He had money and power. He had advanced from a penniless miner to a millionaire figure in the business world. At fifty he was the fruits of a well-spent, energetic life. Handsome and immaculate in his perfectly tailored evening clothes, he fitted into the beautiful room with its rich tapestries and oriental rugs with all the ease and naturalness of a man born to culture and wealth.

Every now and then his eyes wandered from his newspaper to the figure of his wife sitting at the other side of the richly carved table. The tiny, unimposing little woman in her badly cut, dun-colored gown was the one incongruous detail in the room. She was like a shabby little prairie flower suddenly transplanted to a conservatory where brilliant orchids and lovely roses bloomed all about her, her faint little fragrance overpowered by their heavy sweetness—her delicate loveliness completely submerged by very contrast with the radiant beauty of her surroundings.

To Slade's critical eyes, the dowdy little figure, with the work basket in her lap and her head bent over the stocking she was contentedly darning, was an actual eyesore. He had fitted up a magnificent home that would have made a perfect setting for a princess, and his wife's appearance had not changed a particle from the days when they lived in a tumble-down cottage and he worked in the mines in his shirtsleeves. With the getting of vast amounts of money he had acquired a veneer of manners and tastes that at times failed to conceal the rough and brutal instincts of the real man. His social horizon was enlarging, but within it his wife seemed to find no place. He wanted, beyond this and everything, to climb the political tree and pick the fruits thereof. His wife seemed not to know that there was such a thing as a political tree to climb. With herself, her husband and her work she was contented and happy.

The wives of other men of his position were social queens noted for their beautiful gowns, their entertaining and their clever wit. He alone was shackled to a woman he would have been ashamed to introduce to his friends. Only he was tied to a wife he could not force either by pleading or argument to enter into the life which meant so much to him. Tonight as he rehearsed in his mind his many unsuccessful efforts to make Mary advance and take an interest in his life as it was now, rebellion surged in his heart. He had struggled year after year to attain his present standing, his present position in the world, and Mary, the one loved thing of his life, insisted on hanging like a millstone around his neck.

Why, oh, why, couldn't the woman progress? Why hadn't she developed as he had done? Why was she placidly sitting there satisfied to remain just as she had been twenty years ago, hopelessly behind the times?

couldn't do it in his mansion. But Daniel Slade was no more uncomfortable at having her there than Mary Slade was at being obliged to live in this great, elegant house, with its crowds of servants and its routine, absolutely foreign and well-nigh hateful to her. She knew she didn't fit into her surroundings. She realized her own inharmonious. Her attempts to look natural and feel comfortable were pathetic. She felt lost without the task of overseeing the Monday's washing. She was heart-broken because she couldn't personally superintend the making of Dan's coffee. Her life was incomplete because a hired cook made the bread that was served on the table and because Dan never seemed to miss the evenly brown loaves that had been her especial pride in the old days.

Mary Slade was as commonplace as a cup of boiled tea. She was a plain, ordinary, everyday woman, who loved a simple, unpretentious life, with the neighbors dropping in for a word or two, exchanging recipes for muffins and debating the proper way to season a stew.

There was neither charm nor comfort for her in the vista of rooms opening out from the spacious library. The brocade chairs were straight and didn't rock. They were high-posted and stilted compared to her own low-seated little rocker in the cottage. When she sat back in them, stiffly and awkwardly, her feet didn't even reach the floor, but dangled restlessly above the priceless rug that was one of her husband's newest purchases.

All big crises in life are the results of trifles. It took the merest incident to crystallize Slade's thought into action. Mary had picked up a portion of the paper after it had dropped from her husband's hands. She started to read the printed page with all the serious importance of a little child trying to do something very big and grown-up.

Suddenly her eyes lighted with pleasure and a tender smile of pride and delight illuminated her features. In turning the pages she had suddenly discovered a picture of her husband, under which she read a simple but significant line:

"Daniel S. Slade, a Possible Governor."

"Oh, Dan," she cried, happily. "Isn't this a fine picture of you. I could almost imagine it was going to speak to me."

Then she paused a little wistfully and doubtfully before she asked:

"But do you really want to be governor?"

"Want to be?"

Slade caught his breath as he repeated her question.

Want to be—when every aim and ambition the last few years had been made in the one direction, toward the one longed-for goal—political power! Want to be—when years before he had turned his eyes on the governor's chair and had been battling grimly, silently, persistently toward that end ever since! Want to be—when that was his one ambition, the one thing he had yet to achieve! He sighed wearily to himself. That Mary could ask that question was the best proof of how irrevocably they had drifted apart. Living in the same house with him, eating at the same table, day after day at his side, the little woman knew no more of his real self or his ambitions than the merest stranger.

"It's a nice story about yer, Dan," Mary went on, all unconscious of the struggle going on just a few feet away from her—the struggle between the heart of a man that calls out to the companion of his youth, the sharer of his joys and struggles and the brain of a man that demands the glory of power and the fulfillment of ambition.

"But, Dan," questioned Mary's gentle little voice, "who's The Governor's Lady?"

"His wife, of course," snapped Slade.

"What does it say about you?"

He reached over and took the paper from her hands, leaned forward eagerly toward the light and frowned as he read.

"Should Daniel S. Slade, the ex-miner, ex-town marshal, ex-sheriff, ex-United States marshal, ex-land boomer and multimillionaire, arrive, it will be interesting to see the governor's lady dusting the gubernatorial chair—probably the only occupation congenial to this kind-hearted and plain little woman."

"Dusting the gubernatorial chair," Slade repeated mockingly, cut to the quick by this public allusion to his wife's plainness and lack of social graces.

That simple little phrase, stinging as it was brief, was as a match flame to dry timber. It was all that was necessary to bring the hot rage surging through him to the boiling point. The sweetness of the little woman's expression, the tenderness of her eyes whenever they rested upon him, the plaintive softness of her voice meant nothing to him then. Through angry eyes he saw only the lack of smartness in her somber brown dress, only the note of absurdity she struck amid the exquisite surroundings of the room he had furnished for her. He thought of nothing but the sorry spectacle she would make at a brilliant dinner or smart function where beautiful women in fashionable chiffons chatted freely and easily of men and things in the progress of the nation.

"This is some of Wesley Merritt's tin-horn tooting writing," growled Slade. "D—n his dirty work!"

As her husband muttered to himself, Mary had calmly resumed her endless mending of socks, long years of thrift and saving making it impossible for her to throw away even a well-worn pair in spite of the fact that the need for replacing had long since passed.

Slade found himself looking at the little woman who had been his wife for twenty years, through lean years and hard years, as faithful and patient then as later, when success first began to come his way, very much as he might have scrutinized an entire stranger. For a moment the tragedy of their present state caught at his soul, and he felt the infinite pathos of the woman's predicament. A softer note came into his voice as he asked slowly:

"Say, haven't you got any clothes, Mary? Haven't you any of the things other women wear at night—silk or lace or ruffles or whatever they are?"

"Yes, I've got 'em," Mary replied, indifferently, "but it's too cold to wear 'em, and those silk stockings you told me to buy—I can't wear them, either—they tickle my toes. Satin slippers made me uncomfortable, and—" she finished with a bubbling little laugh. "I guess I wasn't made for those things, Dan, dear. I'm too much of a home body."

Her very self-satisfied complacency nettled her questioner. The very sight of the darning needle in her fingers maddened him.

Courtlandt got into his compartment at Varenna. He had tipped the guard liberally not to open the door for anyone else, unless the train was crowded. As the shrill blast of the conductor's horn sounded the warning of "all aboard," the door opened and a heavily veiled woman got in hurriedly. The train began to move instantly. The guard slammed the door and latched it. Courtlandt sighed: the futility of trusting these Italians, of trying to buy their loyalty! The woman was without any luggage whatever, not even the usual magazine. She was dressed in brown, her hat was brown, her veil, her gloves, her shoes. But whether she was young or old was beyond his deduction. He opened his Corbiers and held it before his eyes; but he found reading impossible. The newspaper finally slipped from his hands to the floor, where it swayed and rustled unnoticed. He was staring at the promontory across Lecco, the green and restful hill, the little earthly paradise out of which he had been unjustly cast. He couldn't understand. He had lived cleanly and decently; he had wronged no man or woman, nor himself. And yet, through some evil twist of fate, he had lost all there was in life worth having. The train lurched around a shoulder of the mountain. He leaned against the window. In a moment more the villa was gone.

What was it? He felt irresistibly drawn. Without intending to do so, he turned and stared at the woman in brown. Her hand went to the veil and swept it aside. Nora was as full of romance as a child. She could have stopped him before he made the boat, but she wanted to be alone with him.

"Nora!"

She flung herself on her knees in front of him. "I am a wretch!" she said.

He could only repeat her name.

"I am not worth my salt. Ah, why did you run away? Why did you not pursue me, importune me until I wearied?"

"Perhaps gladly? There were times when I would have opened my arms had you been the worst scoundrel in the world instead of the dearest lover, the patientest! Ah, can you forgive me?"

"Forgive you, Nora?" He was numb.

"I am a miserable wretch! I doubted you. I! When all I had to do was to recall the way people misrepresent things I had done! I sent back your letters . . . and read and re-read them."

You can sell your house or turn it into a wretched hut.

"I Am a Wretch," She Said.

read the old blue ones. Don't you remember how you used to write them on blue paper? . . . Flora told me everything. It was only because she hated me, not that she cared anything about you. She told me that night at the ball. She was at the bottom of the abduction. When you kissed me . . . didn't you know that I kissed you back. Edward, I am a miserable wretch, but I shall follow you wherever you go, and I haven't even a vanity box in my handbag! There were tears in her eyes. "Say that I am a wretch!"

He drew her up beside him. His arms closed around her so hungrily, so strongly, that she gasped a little. He looked into her eyes; his glance traveled here and there over her face, searching for the familiar dimple at one corner of her mouth. "Nora!" he whispered. "Kiss me!" And then the train came to a stand, jerkily. They fell back against the cushions. "Lecco!" cried the guard through the window. They laughed like children. "I bribed him," she said gaily. "And now . . . Yes, and now?" eagerly, it still be-wildered. "Let's go back!"

THE END.

FACE A SIGHT WITH ERUPTION RESINOL CURED

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 5, 1913: "I had a small pimple on the side of my face, and it kept getting larger and larger. It had spread over one cheek, and as it would spread water would come from it and every place the water would touch, another sore would form. It itched and burned and my face was a sight. I used several salves and ointments that were recommended, but none helped, until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, which relieved me at once, and after using it about two weeks, my face was entirely clear. I cannot praise Resinol enough." (Signed) Mrs. Rose Muller, 1313 Snyder Ave.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for nineteen years and every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c.), and Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1). Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes." For free trial, write to Dept. KK, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

FIRST DOSE OF MAYR'S REMEDY PUT STOMACH VICTIM BACK ON JOB

Milwaukee Man Finds Quick Way to Escape Misery of Digestive Troubles.

William A. Ernst of 1184 Richards Street, Milwaukee, was a victim of stomach disorders which made him miserable most of the time. He was often unable to work and he suffered severely.

Mr. Ernst took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and was surprised at the quick results. He wrote:

"Your medicine has relieved me of about three hundred accretions and I have not passed any more since taking the last dose. I have not lost an hour of work since. I have recommended your wonderful remedy to several of my friends and will recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

Similar experiences are related in letters from thousands of users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy in all parts of the United States. It clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from stomach ills, liver and intestinal troubles. Many declare that it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure that it has saved their lives.

The remarkable success of this remedy has caused many imitations, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to J. P. Baker & Son's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has accomplished—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-155 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many letters from grateful people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

Land-owning Peers.
It is stated that there is not a member of the British house of lords who does not own one thousand or more acres. None of the land owners is a real farmer, but all rent their land to men who make the most of it. It is not uncommon for one family to live on a rented farm for more than a hundred years.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from Badger Drug Co., and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

VAUDEVILLE OPENS AT MYERS THEATRE

Three Good Acts Given at Myers, Which Starts Vaudeville.—Bill Continues Until Sunday.

The opening of the Myers theatre for vaudeville by the western circuit yesterday afternoon and evening attracted considerable attention among the public for at all performances there were large audiences who expressed satisfaction over the three acts presented. The present bill will continue until Sunday, giving a matinee and two evening performances.

The offering of the Savoy and company and their troupe of trained does proved a delight, for it is seldom that better trained canines are to be seen on the stage. Besides being masters at the ordinary rone skipping and dancing the does were experts at gymnastic stunts, including tumbling and acrobatic feats. The feature of their act was the football game, which caused much merriment.

Barber and Jackson in their vaudeville skit, "A Man, a Maid, a Piano," were fair entertainers and the man made the most of his croak statue to make the audience laugh. Arthur Turrel proved a master on the mouth organ, playing everything from classical to a medley of rag-time airs.

The fourth series of "Fattie Love" adventure story was given last night in motion pictures and the fifth will be given tonight.

On Having Friends.
On the psychology of having friends, Dr. George A. Coe said at the last meeting of the American Psychological association that the naive understanding would assert, first, that what each friend enjoys is the other friend, not merely goods to be mediated by him, and, second, that the reason why a giver is valued above his gift is that a giver has experiences. We value objects not only as experienced, but as having experiences. The sayings, "There is continuity of substance between minds," and "Individuals overlap," do not sufficiently account for the value attached to "having" a friend. He says, in effect, that psychology is "up a stump" in its attempt either to deny or to translate into other terms the simple assertion that one enjoys a "second experiencing" through friendship.

Credited to Gratification.
A member of the Pacific Union club, San Francisco, owns a handsome place up in Marion county in which he takes great pride. A few days ago he was boasting that he made $6,000 off it last year. "Did you include the earnings of the farm when you made your income-tax return?" asked an irreverent son of Benicia. "I did not. Why should I?" "Why you said you made $6,000 from it." "Oh, that wasn't actually cash; $5,000 of it was personal gratification."

Dinner Stories

A comedian in a Paris theatre recently made a great hit. While indulging in a bit of horseplay on the stage he struck his head violently, entirely by accident, against one of the pillars of the scene upon the stage. On hearing the thud everybody uttered a cry.

"No great harm done," said he. "Just hand me a towel, a glass of water and a salt cellar."

down, folded the towel in the form of a bandage, dipped it in the gals and emptied the salt cellar on the wet part. Having thus prepared a compress, according to prescription, and when everyone expected he would apply it to his forehead, he gravely arose and tied it round the pillar.

A guest in a Cincinnati hotel was shot during a quarrel. The negro porter, who heard the shooting, was a witness at the trial.

"How many shots did you hear?"

"Two shots, sah," he replied.

"How far apart were they?"

"Bout like dis way," explained the negro, clapping his hands, with an interval of about a second between claps.

"Where were you when you heard the first shot fired?"

"Shinin' a gentleman's shoes in the basement of de hotel."

AN APPEAL TO WIVES

You know the terrible affliction that comes to many homes from the result of a drinking husband or son. "Where were you when the second shot was fired?"

"Ah was passin' the Big Fo' depot."

Percival called on the joy of his life one evening last week and when the parlor was cleared for action he started to propose.

"Darling," he passionately cried, throwing himself on his knees before her and rolling his eyes toward the ceiling, "beloved, dearest, can't you see, can't you guess that I love you?"

"Well," was the rather chilling response of the girl as she gazed at the agitated youth before her, "I would hate to think that this is just your natural way of acting before company."

They were playing "Macbeth" and the performance had reached the thrilling point where Macbeth goes off the stage to murder the king.

On arriving behind the scenes the villain of the piece looked about for the blood in which to dip his hands. Not finding it, he summoned the stage manager, who had forgotten to prepare it.

What was to be done? The time had come for him to reappear on the stage.

Suddenly, with admirable presence of mind, he smote the manager's nose with all his force, and dipping his hands in the copious stream which flowed, he dashed on the stage, followed by a roar from the smitten one, just in time, with the words: "I have done the deed. Did you hear a noise?"
